Wednesday night on TV

Nixon may give views on cooling economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon probably will go on nationwide television Wednesday night to announce some new economic controls designed to cool boiling inflation, administration sources said today.

The sources said Nixon is expected to turn to mandatory, selective controls rather than a sweeping across-the-board freeze on prices, wages, interest rates and dividends.

However, the sources said the program the President is devising in the face of steadily increasing prices is expected to go beyond wage-price stabilization.

There had been some speculation that one of the devices Nixon might use to combat inflation — and at the same time to reduce the heavy drain on the nation's short gasoline supplies — was a 4-cent a gallon increase in the federal gasoline tax.

The sources said it is now doubtful the President will ask for the gasoline hike on grounds it would be "tremendously unpopular" with consumers and would be particularly unfair to low-income groups.

Pushed though he is, Nixon apparently is determined to sound out a variety of views on a wide range of possibilities to bring more stability to the economy. He was quoted as telling his cabinet last week that he feels he has three options: to do nothing, to impose a freeze or to impose selective controls.

Nixon summoned congressional leaders of both parties to a meeting today ostensibly to discuss foreign policy, including new moves to salvage the Vietnam cease-fire agreement and the forthcoming state visit of Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

It appeared likely that he would take the opportunity to solicit the opinions of the legislative leaders on the economy. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield has urged quick Senate action on a 90-day wage-price freeze unless Nixon moves speedily.

The President met with his top-level economic advisors Monday in a followup to the extraordinary meeting the experts held Saturday at the White House to discuss tightening controls.

It was understood that the presidential advisers are shying away from a freeze on grounds that it would only create more problems. Although they are usually at odds, presidential adviser John Connally and Treasury Secretary George Shultz are reported to have resolved their differences and agreed on a set of recommendations that fall short of a freeze.

The main concern is rising food prices and Nixon was expected to move on this front. He apparently outlined his options to members of the Labor-Management Advisory Committee of the Cost of Living Council at a two-hour meeting Monday. But he pledged members to secrecy. "It was a privileged discussion," said United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock. AFL-CIO President George Meany ducked reporters by slipping out a door at the White House. The others said "no comment."

Truck stoned by pickets in labor dispute

ONTARIO — A truck attempting to break a Teamster's Union picket line at the Union 76 Truck Stop at the San Bernardino Freeway and Milliken Avenue was stoned by pickets early this morning, bringing Ontario police to the scene.

According to police reports, Teamster's Union pickets have been set up at the truck stop for several weeks in a labor dispute between unionized and independent moving van truckers.

One independent trucker's vehicle was stoned this morning as he tried to go through the pickets, numbering over 100. The stone-throwing incident was followed by several fist fights among the independents and pickets. The fighting was quickly brought under control by police.

According to an Ontario police spokesman, the police department's Security Enforcement Detail has been placed on 30-minute alert in case of further violence on the picket lines. The spokesman said however, that the situation was under control by 9 a.m. and it was unlikely the enforcement detail would have to be called in.

In the rock throwing incident and fist fights no one was injured, said police.

For several weeks now tension has been running high between the teamsters and independents, from several well-known moving companies.

Wasn't involved, Stans testifies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, testifying reluctantly, told the Senate Watergate Committee today he was not involved in the bugging scandal or any other illegal act in handling more than $45 million he raised for President Nixon's re-election campaign.

Stans made his denials in an eight-page typewritten statement which he prepared for the afternoon session of the Senate committee's hearings.

Stans agreed to testify only after Committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said Stans might be cited for contempt of the Congress if he both refused to testify and waived his right to invoke the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination.

McCord to name Nixon, top aides in lawsuit

DETROIT (UPI) — Convicted Watergate conspirator James McCord will name President Nixon as a defendant in a $1.5 million lawsuit to be filed this week, claiming Nixon must be held responsible for his campaign operations like any other citizen.

In a telephone interview Monday night with UPI, McCord's attorney, Henry Rothblatt, said the suit would be filed by Friday "based on Nixon's activities as a candidate—not as President."

"The fact that he was elected President does not immunize him from his civil responsibilities as a candidate," said Rothblatt. "Any more than as a candidate he had to meet responsibility for his phone bills, printing bills or any other costs."

"When Nixon was running for re-election, he said 'I assume all responsibility for the Committee for Re-Election of the President.' Well, it was that committee that got Jim McCord into all this mess, so if what he (Nixon) said is true, then Nixon is responsible for it," said Rothblatt.

Nixon would not be the only defendant named in the suit, Rothblatt said, but that it would name "the whole slew of Watergate malcontents — (H.R.) Haldeman, John Ehrlichman, (John) Dean — all of them."

Among other reasons, said Rothblatt, the suit would be filed on the basis of loss of income.

"McCord is in the securities business—obviously they blew that business for him, he won't be able to attract clients with the Watergate mark," Rothblatt said.

"McCord has suffered mental anguish, his reputation has been destroyed and he has been incarcerated because of his involvement in this affair," Rothblatt said. "He was induced to participation because he thought and still believes the break-in was authorized by the White House."

McCord, who is seeking a retrial or a reversal of his conviction, has filed a similar $1.5 million suit against the Committee to Re-Elect the President.

Judge spurns request for blackout on testimony from Dean, Magruder

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge John J. Sirica cleared the way today for public testimony by John W. Dean and Jed Stuart Magruder before the Senate Watergate Committee, ruling he had no authority to grant a government request for a blackout on broadcast of their appearances.

"The court lacks completely any power of intervention," the chief federal district judge said in turning down a request by Archibald Cox, special government prosecutor, to order closed sessions of Senate hearings where such key witnesses as Dean and Magruder appear.

Various news accounts of the Watergate plot and the subsequent cover-up attempt have said Dean, a former White House aide, has told investigators he has information suggesting President Nixon was aware of the cover-up.

Magruder is also reported to have told investigators about alleged involvement of several top officials, including former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and Dean, in the planning of the Watergate burglary.

In his ruling concerning the testimony of Dean and Magruder, Sirica ruled that to set any conditions on their appearances "would be an assumption of power not possessed by the court."

Cox had argued that his efforts to prosecute others expected to be indicted in the Watergate case would be severely jeopardized by testimony of such key witnesses as Dean and Magruder at public hearings.

Their testimony, under a limited immunity grant, cannot be used as the basis for prosecution —making it necessary for the government to show that it obtained any similar evidence by other means.

Sirica said in his ruling: "However much the court may sympathize with the special prosecutor's wish to avoid serious potential dangers to his mission, it cannot act on suppositions ... The matter is simply not right for judicial action."

Sirica added that "it is clear that the court could not go beyond administering its own affairs and attempt to regulate proceedings before a coordinate branch of government."

City reacts favorably to report on stadium

POMONA — The City Council Monday reacted favorably to a study on the feasibility of constructing an athletic stadium under a joint powers agreement.

Following a presentation by a citizens' committee and other officials, the council recommended a recommendation from the city staff next week on the city's possible financial involvement and on what steps should next be followed.

The study, done by Economics Research Associates, called the proposal "an economically viable public project."

Funds for the study were supplied on a 50-50 basis by the council and the committee, working in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce and businessmen.

"The stadium committee submits this report with the firm conviction of the need for a stadium and its variety of uses for service to the community," said former Mayor Arthur Cox, committee chairman.

It was suggested that the three agencies that possibly would be involved in the project, Cal Poly, the city and the Pomona schools, investigate the possibility of financial contributions from individuals, industries and foundations as a means of assisting in the cost of construction.

The stadium is proposed on the Cal Poly campus. Cox said the university would provide the land and more than 5,000 parking spaces.

ERA recommended an initial development of $2.9 million. The initial seating capacity of 12,000 persons could be expanded to accommodate 20,000.

LONDON (UPI) — Actor Jack Hawkins was reported in "comfortable" condition in a hospital today after becoming ill at home. The 62-year-old actor suffered a throat hemorrhage.

City council OKs 'unisex' police force

L.A. to give women cop-on-the-beat status

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The city council Monday approved a "unisex" police force plan that will abolish distinctions between male and female officers and put women into dangerous street patrol work presently restricted to men.

The council voted 12-0 in favor of the plan, after nine months of study and debate, and a series of skirmishes between Police Chief Edward M. Davis and the Los Angeles Policewomen's Association.

Davis has opposed putting women into patrol work for years.

The council approved a recommendation by the personnel department of a plan that will abolish the posts of "policeman" and "policewoman," replacing them with the classification "police officer."

The action makes women officers eligible for promotions to ranks for which they were ineligible in the past.

The issue of minimum size for "uni-sex" police officers was left for further study, but the policewomen won their fight with Davis for a "grandmother clause" exempting women now on the force from whatever standard is established.

Davis, under pressure from the council to remove sex-based obstacles to promotion, came up with the "unisex" plan, under which male and female officers would be subject to the same rules.

That would mean the women officers would have to meet the male size requirement, Davis said—a minimum height of 5 feet 8 and a minimum weight of 140 pounds.

Policewomen protested that only a small percentage of American women are that big, and that even among the women already on the force, only about 25 per cent would be large enough to take advantage of the rule change.

The policewomen's association pressured for a clause that would apply any such requirements only to new officers.

The council voted to require current policewomen only to take a "refresher" course at the Police Academy before changing their status, regardless of their size.

The city commissioned a UCLA researcher to recommend minimum heights and weights for police work, and results are expected about Aug. 1.

It was expected the first women officers would go on patrol duty by the end of the year.

Phony crisis claimed

Antitrust suit against oil companies in works

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Florida's chief trial counsel said Monday he is preparing a federal antitrust suit against major oil companies on charges of conspiring to create a phony "energy crisis" to eliminate competition and reap profits.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Daniel S. Dearing said he has no concrete evidence against the firms, but "we know what we see."

What Dearing thinks he sees is an unspoken agreement among the major oil companies — he won't say exactly who — to hold down production of crude oil, so that independent producers who buy it from them will soon dry up.

At the same time, Dearing maintains, the oil companies will scare the public into accepting such environmentally controversial projects as the trans-Alaska pipeline and offshore drilling along Florida's Gulf Coast.

"We have no inside information at all," he said, "but we know what we see."

"We see the results. We see things happening and we can't explain them."

Dearing said that, in preparing the anti-trust suit he intends to file within the next few weeks, the Department of Legal Affairs has taken a look at import levels, domestic production, transmission and refinery capabilities, and several other factors in the oil business.

From that study, Dearing has concluded that the big companies all decided at once to sell less crude oil to small independent refineries.

"We can't account for this any other way than that they have determined purposely to close off the supply of crude to the independent refiner," he said. "And it works beautifully, too, because that way they don't have to engage in gasoline wars."

Aside from drying up competition and raising prices because of artificially short demand, Dearing said, the oil companies can win approval of offshore drilling and the Alaska pipeline if they can convince the public and the government that there is an energy crisis.

"They hope to overcome the objections of the environmentalists to exploration in the Gulf by exciting everybody with this crisis atmosphere that they promote every time you see Johnny Cash on television for Amoco," said Dearing.

But Thieu still objects

Ready for pact signing

PARIS (UPI) — White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger resumed Vietnam negotiations today with Le Duc Tho of Hanoi, and French officials readied the Kleber Avenue conference center for a possible document-signing ceremony.

French government officials said the center was on standby for a signing today, Wednesday or Thursday. South Vietnamese government sources in Saigon disclosed what they said were details of the new agreement but made it clear President Nguyen Van Thieu objected to it.

The Saigon reports said Thieu sent President Nixon a letter Monday night outlining his objections to the draft Kissinger-Tho communiqué which basically was a restatement of the Jan. 27 Paris agreement but set definite times and places for its accomplishment.

Whether Thieu would join the Viet Cong in signing the agreement was uncertain. Saigon Government spokesmen have insisted that a new signing is not necessary because Saigon never violated the old accord.

Kissinger arrived in Paris from Washington at 11 a.m. (6 a.m. EDT) and drove straight to suburban Saint Nom La Breteche, where he started talks with Tho in an American-owned villa at 12:30 p.m. (7:30 a.m. EDT).

The major points of the reported new agreement which would go into effect 24 hours after it is signed included:

—The United States would resume mine sweeping operations in North Vietnam and resume postwar economic aid talks with Hanoi. The United States would end reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam.

—The United States would stop bombing in Laos and Cambodia and the United States and North Vietnam would withdraw their troops from those two countries.

—Battlefield commanders would meet each other at disputed areas to avoid future military engagements.

—All sides would observe the Jan. 27 agreement on accounting for missing soldiers and inspection of grave sites.

—All civilian prisoners would be exchanged 15 days after the communiqué goes into effect and the Red Cross would be allowed to visit all prison camps.

—The National Council for National Reconciliation and Concord would be established within 45 days after the agreement goes into effect and decide on internationally-supervised elections.

Most of the other points pertained to definite duties of the various truce organizations.

Graham asked to influence Nixon to tell all he knows of Watergate

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — A small group of delegates to the Southern Presbyterian General Assembly want evangelist Billy Graham to clarify his position on Watergate before he speaks to the assembly Thursday.

"I have sort of a feeling that Billy Graham has been a confidant and moral leader to the present administration and has not clarified his own position on the scandal that is besetting this country," said the Rev. Howard Gordon of Charlottesville, Va., a leader of the group. "Before we hear him, he ought to clarify his position."

The group introduced a resolution Monday night asking that Graham influence President Nixon to tell all he knows about Watergate.

The resolution said:

"Whereas a question raised in opposition to the invitation to Dr. Graham was supported by a large minority of the General Assembly, be it resolved that Dr. Graham be requested by this assembly to use his influence with the President of the United States to make a full disclosure of the President's knowledge and involvement in the Watergate case."

The resolution drew light applause, but only a few supporting votes were registered.

Accused killer ate flesh of victim?

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — Edmund Emil Kemper III, accused of killing eight women including his mother, "ate the flesh of at least one of his victims," his attorney said Monday.

In a grand jury transcript also released Monday, Kemper was quoted as saying he attacked hitchhiking coeds because "it was so easy."

The transcript was based on Kemper's statements to authorities, made after his arrest April 24, about an alleged year-long killing spree.

Kemper's defense attorney, James E. Jackson, who approved release of the 94-page transcript, added another aspect of the case not contained in the testimony.

"He ate the flesh of at least one of his victims. It was one of his fantasies, so he tried it," Jackson said.

The 6-foot-9, 280-pound Kemper once indulged in a fantasy of killing every person in his neighborhood in a single weekend, the transcript said.

Much of the testimony was provided by Santa Cruz police Lt. Charles Scherer and detective Michael Aluffi, who brought Kemper by car from Pueblo, Colo., where he was arrested in a phone booth while talking to Santa Cruz police.

"He prided himself on his meticulous detail, remembering names, ages, description of clothing, bodies and locations, almost like he had a fixation to recall specifics," Scherer said, according to the transcript.

"One of his rules of operation was that he wanted his victims to be of an aristocracy, of upper middle class to upper class," Aluffi said.

The detective said Kemper paid a visit to the home of one of his victims, after he had beheaded her, "to see if she fit within his rules of operation."

The transcript alleged Kemper said he decided to kill his mother two days before Easter Sunday.

"He felt he was going to be caught soon and he wanted his mother to avoid suffering embarrassment. He decided the best thing to do would be to kill her," Aluffi said.

The transcript said Kemper went to his mother's home, struck her with a hammer and stabbed her with a pocket knife, then cut off her head.

"What's good for my victims is good enough for my mother," Aluffi quoted Kemper as saying.

ONTARIO — Jury selection has begun in West Valley Superior Court for the murder trial of Jerry James Youngberg, 31, accused of killing two veteran law enforcement officers and a service station attendant in Cajon Pass March 9.

Youngberg was charged with murder after San Bernardino County Sheriff's Lt. Alfred Stewart, California Highway Patrolman Larry Wetterling and service station attendant Leo Jenkins were shot to death March 9. Youngberg was wounded by pursuing highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies and San Bernardino County Supervisor James Mayfield following the slayings.

Defending Youngberg in the case will be Rufus Johnson, a San Bernardino attorney who successfully argued that the trial be held in the West Valley Superior Court because of pre-trial publicity given the case in San Bernardino.

Jury selection began Monday afternoon following pre-trial motions in Judge Busch's courtroom.

Brundage, 85, will wed princess, 37

CHICAGO (UPI) — Avery Brundage, 85-year-old former president of the International Olympic Committee, will take a 37-year-old German princess as his bride.

"This is not a June-December wedding," Brundage said Monday as he announced his engagement to Princess Marianne Reuss. "The princess and her family have lived through a terrible war and she is very mature for her age. People say I am very young for my age."

Brundage, whose first wife died two years ago, renewed an acquaintance with Miss Reuss during last summer's Olympics in Munich, where she lives. The princess served on the protocol committee for the games.

Stennis repairs from latest surgery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., who was seriously wounded in a street holdup in Washington Jan. 30, is expected to spend four to six weeks recovering from abdominal surgery he underwent Monday.

A spokesman at Walter Reed Army Medical Center said Stennis, 71, "tolerated the surgery satisfactorily." The surgery was largely to repair abdominal wounds but "incident to" the surgery, a bullet was removed, the spokesman said.

Philippines gives Cliburn welcome

MANILA (UPI) — A red carpet, a shower of roses tossed by schoolchildren and Philippine First Lady Imelda Marcos greeted American pianist Van Cliburn Monday when he arrived to perform at the Seaside Cultural center.

The tall Texan, wearing a dark, pinstriped suit, beamed and waved at the welcoming airport crowd. At one point, he stopped his limousine in front of a school and waded into a crowd of children to shake hands.

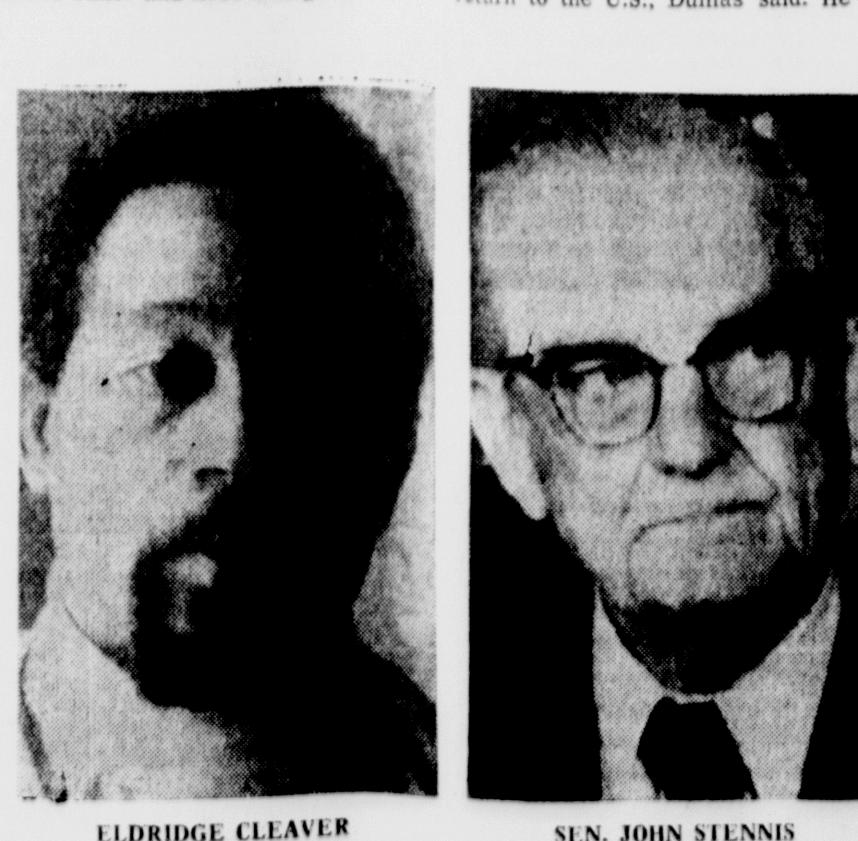

France asked to give Cleaver asylum

PARIS (UPI) — A French lawyer, Roland Dumas, asked Monday that France

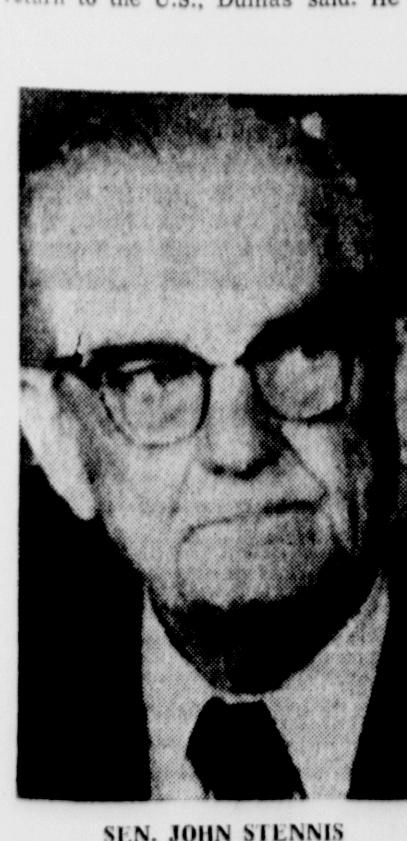

grant political asylum to Eldridge Cleaver, the Black Panther who fled the United States and lived in Algeria.

Cleaver can no longer safely live in Algeria, and he "ran risks" if he were to return to the U.S., Dumas said. He did not say where Cleaver is living now, but some foreigners reported seeing him in Algiers during the weekend.

City's new general plan proposes balanced controls for future growth

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

LA VERNE — A preliminary general plan of growth, designed to accommodate a community of 30,000 persons, was completed today by three of the city's commissions under the guidance of Planning Director Charles R. Le Gros.

The plan, the first since 1963, and the third in the history of the city, emphasizes the need for the most careful use of land to insure and maintain the quality of life in La Verne.

Although public hearings, as required by law, will not be held for another month, Le Gros said those who were interested could obtain copies of the text and could study the tentative map which indicates how the land should be used.

At least two but probably several more public hearings will be held on the master plan starting next month both before the Planning Commission and the City Council.

The public hearings will provide residents with opportunities to express themselves about the proposed plan, which to a large extent follows the one in use for the past 10 years.

Notable changes are a reduction in the industrial research and development zone, the provisions for acquisition of open space, mostly north of Foothill Boulevard, and a slight shift in residential areas.

Generally, what is not already in use for other purposes, or is not committed to something else north of Foothill Boulevard, will become single residential zone, with one dwelling per 10,000 square feet. However, there are some sections which call for one home per acre, or one home per five acres.

Much of the research and development zones, proposed in the earlier master plan, is being reassigned for other purposes.

And there will be two locations along Foothill Boulevard tentatively assigned for administrative-professional buildings.

Identity of lake victim still unknown

SAN DIMAS — The young man who drowned here last Wednesday evening remained unidentified today, sheriff's deputies reported.

The victim, about 22, was taken dead from the water of Puddingstone Reservoir after fishermen reported seeing him go under while swimming with a companion. The companion drove away in a yellow van while attempts were being made to locate the body.

Both the victim and his companion had been warned away from the area by a county flood control district dam keeper prior to the drowning. Identification of the body is being attempted by sheriff's homicide detectives and the coroner's department.

IN MEMORIAM

Mark F. Cain: Although you've been gone a year, there isn't a day or moment that goes by that we, your friends and family, aren't thinking about you and most of all missing you. Your friends and family.

A family member said Monday that Manstein, whom British military historian B.H. Liddell Hart praised as the most able German general, died Sunday at the age of 85. The family did not give the cause of death.

In addition to formulating the blitzkrieg, or "lightning war" technique, Manstein became known for his victory near Charkov in the Russian campaign in 1943.

"I used my brains to the limits to do the best for the good of my country," the ex-field marshal used to say after the Third Reich collapsed in smoke and ruins in 1945.

Unlike most German generals, Manstein told Hitler "no" to his face.

Manstein paid a price for that. Hitler suspended him from active service in 1944 for his "high handedness."

Manstein, on the other hand, made no bones about his dislike of Hitler, whom he blamed for the Stalingrad tragedy and the eventual collapse of Nazi Germany.

"Hitler was the greatest enemy of the German army," he told newsmen several years ago.

In 1949, a British military court sentenced Manstein to 18 years imprisonment for carrying out some of Hitler's inhumane orders, such as the "scorched earth" policy in Russia and the shooting of hostages.

Sir Winston Churchill, out of power at the time of the trial, donated $280 to Manstein's defense fund.

But after four years, Manstein was set free and retired in this small town near Munich, living the quiet life of an old-age pensioner.

SAN DIMAS — The Laura Scudder firm, which boasts the noisiest potato chips in the world, made quite a noise at city hall Monday night and the result is that a food distribution plant will be constructed in metal in San Dimas.

In addition, the City Council sent back to the Planning Commission a proposed amendment to the city ordinance which prohibits the construction of metal buildings in manufacturing zones.

Representatives from Laura Scudder showed members of the City Council photos of similar food distribution plants in Hollywood. The plant there is also constructed of metal. The proposed San Dimas plant will be constructed on an acre site at San Dimas Canyon Road between Palomares and Bonita avenues.

The metal plant will be a warehouse and distribution center for Laura Scudder products. A total of 14 trucks will operate from the warehouse.

The City Council was conducting a public hearing on a proposed amendment which would prohibit metal buildings such as proposed by Laura Scudder in manufacturing zones. The amendment has been approved by the Planning Commission.

Jack Howard, representing Laura Scudder, charged at the City Council meeting two weeks ago that the city was trying to push through the amendment to stop development of the food distribution center. He said the city was unethical in his methods.

Don Whittaker, who said he was handling the sale of the property to the firm, said Monday night that he at first was encouraged by the Chamber of Commerce and the planning department.

Whittaker also said he was told by a person in the planning department that nothing could be done to stop construction of the metal building since this use is permitted in manufacturing zones.

He said he was welcomed with "open arms" and later was rejected by the planning department because he needed a parcel map (lot split) for the property. "We have gone to a great deal of trouble and expense," he said.

Paul Longo, representing Laura Scudder, said it wasn't the intention of his company to put up something unattractive.

He said the building will be something the city could be proud of.

Ted Gauthier, president of the Chamber of Commerce, told the City Council that he felt the matter was "a question of ethics." It is in poor taste for the city at the last minute to invoke an amendment after the cost and expense. It is wrong to impose this.

His remarks raised comment from David Celestin, director of planning and community development, who said this was the second time the Chamber of Commerce president had questioned the ethics of the planning department in an open meeting.

Celestin said Gauthier hadn't even read the memo on the matter but yet feels free to comment on it.

"All we (the planning department) did was give the applicant an industrial guide for the city," he said he advised Chris Peterson, the owner of the acre of property, that there was a proposed amendment to the present ordinance regarding the construction of metal buildings.

"The building is also objectionable because it is near a school, church and residential area. We discouraged him because we feel this area should be residential," Celestin said.

Celestin said the master plan committee has suggested that this area should be residential.

Mayor Thomas Nuss asked Peterson if Celestin's statements were true and Peterson said Celestin did tell him that a metal building wasn't desired in that area.

Former City Councilman

Stanley Plummer said a metal building of good taste could be constructed and cautioned the council on restricting the use of metal buildings.

Councilman D. F. Hooper said he felt the city had a moral obligation to permit construction of the plant. "They (the applicant) should have been told at the time of their inquiry if there was any doubts about the plant." He also said the council couldn't consider the suggestions of the master plan committee since public hearings haven't been conducted on the plan yet.

Councilman Jim Lough said he was also in favor of supporting the plant. He said all metal buildings aren't objectionable. "We shouldn't exclude every metal building."

Councilman Loyd Salisbury said he felt the city has an obligation to Howard. "If the building is constructed right, it is just as good as a block building."

According to Councilman Keith Brogan, the issue is a "matter of ethics. If the city backs down it would be in bad taste," he said.

Nuss said he isn't convinced that ethics is involved because the applicant was told that the city would not look with favor on a metal building.

The proposed amendment was sent back to the Planning Commission with the comments of members of the City Council.

Argument over glass of milk proves fatal

MCALISTER, Okla. (UPI) —

Jack Nash, 65, died Monday on the front porch of his home from a stab wound in the left rib cage because of an argument over a glass of milk. Police arrested an 80-year-old suspect released from state prison two weeks ago.

Witnesses said the men were on the porch arguing about the glass of milk when Nash hit the other man with a cane. The second man then stabbed Nash.

Teacher fired over homosexuality class

GREELEY, Colo. (UPI) —

Sue Brown says the three lesbians who talked about homosexuality to her community college class presented a stimulating discussion and, if she had been a man, she would still have her job as a psychology teacher.

Mrs. Brown, a widow and the mother of two, was fired from her position at Aims Community College for letting three lesbians speak to students on homosexuality. The Colorado Education Association (CEA) said Monday administrators have ignored her request for a hearing.

"There was nothing objectionable about the class," she said. "It was an intelligent, stimulating discussion, totally appropriate for the classroom. If I were a man, this wouldn't have happened."

Students protested the dismissal and praised the lesbian panel discussion, which was taped for use by other students around the state.

Aims president Ed Beatty notified Mrs. Brown on April 10 her teaching contract would not be renewed. Harold Hagan, an official of the CEA, said Beatty "never responded to her request for a hearing. Her only recourse is the courts."

"I think academic freedom is the main issue," Hagan said. "The lesbian panel was cleared by the departmental chairman."

The National Education Association has been asked to help. Mrs. Brown has filed two suits seeking $800,000 in damages and reinstatement.

Special services for special people.

The following is a transcript of an interview held with Mrs. Jean Gussman.

"Sure I think it makes a difference where you bank. We bank at Security Pacific. We have this beautiful lot... and we wanted to put a mobile home on it. We were very fortunate to find a mobile home that had to be moved right away. We called the bank, and in half a day we got our loan. And that's something special."

No serious fuel lack in southland, AAA reports

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — No serious shortage of gasoline exists in metropolitan Los Angeles and surrounding areas, according to the first of a weekly survey of service stations by the Southern California Auto Club.

Art Watkins, Auto Club spokesman, said Monday the first of the surveys indicated that "Southern California is the least troubled" section of the nation with regard to gasoline supply.

An American Automobile Association (AAA) report, "Fuel Gauge," issued last Tuesday and based on a sampling of 1,400 service stations across the country, found 75 per cent operating normally, 24 per cent with limited operations and one per cent shut down. The AAA survey concluded the southeastern states had the most critical problems.

Many gasoline dealers reported their supplies were being reduced 10 to 15 per cent from last year's level. Of those covered by the local survey, about half said they have been able to meet all customer demands and have made no changes in hours of operation.

The other half have been forced to make cutbacks in sales, generally by restricting hours of operation. A few have had to impose ceilings on the gasoline sold to individual motorists, the Auto Club said.

The findings were projected from a spot check of some 50 service stations scattered throughout Los Angeles, San Bernardino, San Diego and Imperial counties.

The organization will continue to take weekly surveys of the retail gasoline supply for as long as the threat of a shortage exists.

Beginning this week, the survey will be broadened to take in some 100 service stations in 20 communities along major travel routes throughout Southern California. It also will include data from Northern California. About half of the service station operators surveyed by the Auto Club reported their operations last week as normal, with no restrictions on operating hours or sales to an individual customer.

'Pragmatists . . . naked in the dock'

Schmitz will seek statewide office

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — John G. Schmitz, the American-Independent party candidate for president in 1972, said today he probably will run for state wide office as a Republican in 1974.

Reliable sources said Schmitz intends to seek the Republican nomination for secretary of state, a job now held by Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr. Brown plans to run for governor.

"I've got a campaign headquarters open. I'm doing a lot of ground work. I am definitely going to run for office, most probably statewide office, but I'm not ready to announce which one," Schmitz said in a telephone interview.

"The major issue is going to be restoring the people's confidence in government. We're going to have to recover from Watergate and unify all the people who want to save the country. Right now the country is in a real crisis."

Schmitz added: "The whole Watergate revelation put a completely new light on the national political picture. The type of people who drove conservative Republicans to the wall—as in my case—are now on the defensive.

"These people were neither liberals nor conservatives, but simply 'pragmatists' who felt when they got in a position of power they were the law."

"The pragmatists are standing naked on the dock now. There's a great opportunity for some of us to move forward again."

Schmitz, 42, represented an Orange County district in the state Senate from 1965-1970 and in Congress after that until last January. He was a Republican until defeated last year in a primary election bid for renomination. Then he switched to the American Party to accept its nomination for president.

Schmitz' third party candidacy picked up more than 1 million votes nationwide. Almost one-fourth of these—225,703—came from California, representing 2.7 per cent of the vote here.

The outspoken conservative—a member of the John Birch Society—left the American Party in March and re-registered as a Republican in May. He said the American Party had too much internal dissension.

Referring to his losing bid for renomination to Congress, Schmitz said: "Before Watergate is over, people are going to find out I was 'Watergated' myself. I was a victim because I was boozing in the applause section. I disagreed with the President on his China trip, wage and price controls, revenue sharing and the whole bit."

Schmitz said he doesn't believe Nixon should be impeached in the wake of Watergate because "he's still the head of the country. You can argue about who has the nicest stateroom but you'd better not let the ship go on the rocks."

Schmitz is living in Newport Beach, teaching at Santa Ana College, giving speeches, publishing a newsletter and operating a campaign office in Tustin.

Can your cigarette pass these 5 simple tests?

If you've ever had second thoughts about the brand of cigarette you smoke, here's a quick way to find out if it really delivers what you want.

These five simple tests will tell you a lot about quality, freshness, and taste. And if you make these tests with a Winston, they'll tell you why Winston smokers can point to their brand and say, "How good it is!"

Test #1 Sniff It

Take a whiff of the tobacco. Does it smell rich and fresh and appealing? If your cigarette is Winston, you'll recognize the aroma of costly Vintage Leaf Tobaccos. Winston chooses the most nearly perfect leaves money can buy. Then we age these rare tobaccos in wooden casks. We do it for the same reason you'd age a fine wine. Aging makes our tobaccos mellow and brings out that extra dimension of natural goodness.

Test #2 Feel It

Roll the cigarette in your hand. Pinch it slightly. Does it feel stale? A cigarette that's been waiting in a warehouse, or on a shelf, can lose some of its freshness. And some of its taste. But, because Winston sells so fast, every pack comes to you fresh. The fact is, on any given day, Winston is likely to be the freshest cigarette your money can buy.

Test #3 Take a puff... before lighting

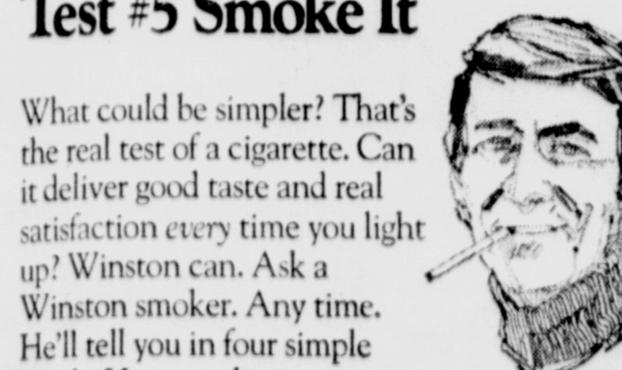

Take a puff—without lighting it. That's a good way to learn about the tobacco and the filter. If you can taste the tobaccos without lighting up, you know there's richness up front. And that the filter doesn't get in the way of the taste. Winston's exclusive Filter-Blend, a top-secret blend of different tobaccos, works with Winston's modern white filter to deliver satisfying taste in every puff.

Test #4 Light It

Does it burn evenly? Here's a critical test of the way your cigarette is made. A cigarette rolled fresh, packed full and made with care will burn evenly, draw easily. Winston always does. How does your brand shape up?

Test #5 Smoke It

What could be simpler? That's the real test of a cigarette. Can it deliver good taste and real satisfaction every time you light up? Winston can. Ask a Winston smoker. Any time. He'll tell you in four simple words: How good it is.

Ask a Winston smoker.
He'll tell you

HOW GOOD IT IS.

Use of 'love' drug reaches 'silent epidemic' markedly.

"Sales of an estimated $3.4 million in 1970 have now reportedly doubled," Pascarelli said. "In one eastern university, as many as 5,000 pills are said to be sold illicitly in a single day."

Pascarelli said methaqualone abusers are caught up in its "love drug" mystique and in seeking a dissociative "high" become oblivious to its dangers.

He said experience in Europe and elsewhere indicates that the drug has a marked potential for producing dependence and causes a severe withdrawal syndrome.

"In light of past experience, we can expect an imminent increase in intravenous use, overdose and suicide attempts with this drug," he wrote.

Four staff members of the Haight-Ashbury Free Medical Clinic in San Francisco, reporting in the same issue of the AMA Journal, said they concluded "that methaqualone abuse and addiction is qualitatively equivalent to that of the short-acting barbiturates."

The group also questioned promotional claims of the sedative, and said they did not "find it superior to other sedative-hypnotics already flooding the market."

Pascarelli reported, "The abuse of methaqualone as a 'downer' or 'soper' has increased to the proportions of a silent epidemic."

Tax limit stalls near deadline

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Senate committee vote on Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax limitation plan was postponed Monday due to a lack of quorum of committee members.

Only three of nine members of the Revenue and Taxation Committee showed up for the hearing where the proposed state constitutional amendment (SCA12) was to be voted on.

The plan—one of the legislature's most important issues—was reset for a hearing on Wednesday, two days before the legal deadline for committee approval of bills if they are to take effect this year.

The author, Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai, told newsmen he was "not optimistic. If I had to lay a wager, I'd bet it wouldn't get out of the committee."

Lagomarsino said he had been "trying for a long time" to get the committee to vote on the plan.

The proposal, which would place a limit on total taxes the state could collect in the future, had been scheduled by the committee for a special order of business at 1:30 p.m. No senator showed up.

By 2:15 p.m., only three members had appeared. So committee vice chairwoman John W. Holmdahl, D-Oakland, cancelled the meeting, observing: "I see no purpose in having everyone wait further."

Several Reagan administration spokesmen and newsmen were on hand.

Reagan currently is attempting to bypass the legislature and collect 520,806 signatures to qualify the measure for a special statewide ballot Nov. 6. He is about 150,000 signatures short and has until June 16 to gather them.

If the legislature approved Reagan's measure, it would go on the ballot. But there is extensive opposition throughout the legislature to the concept, primarily because lawmakers believe it would weaken their taxing powers.

Present for the committee hearing were Holmdahl and Sen. George Deukmejian R-Long Beach. Sen. James Q. Wadsworth, D-Hawthorne, checked in and immediately left.

Absent were the chairman, Sen. Walter W. Stern, D-Bakersfield; and Sens. Clare L. Berryhill, R-Ceres; Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose; William E. Coombs, R-Rialto; Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, and Alan Robbins, D-North Hollywood.

Robbins said he was attending a "more meaningful" hearing of another committee and added—referring to the logjam of bills and Friday's deadline—"this week's schedule is unbelievable."

Stern and Coombs were arguing their own bills in other committees. Bradley arrived at the Capitol from San Jose too late for the hearing. Berryhill was serving on another committee. Petris said he was tied up with telephone calls.

Conference panel gets state budget

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state's proposed $9 billion-plus budget today was in the hands of a two-house conference committee which must iron out differences between Senate and Assembly versions of the measure by Friday.

The huge spending plan—sent to the conference committee Monday—must go to Gov. Ronald Reagan by a constitutionally imposed deadline of June 15.

The Assembly moved the measure to the closed-door panel composed of four Democrats and two Republicans on a 3-2 vote, routinely rejecting Senate amendments to the Assembly budget bill.

Reagan sought $9.3 billion in his proposed budget. The Assembly proposed spending $9.4 billion and the Senate passed a $9.09 billion budget bill. The state budget for the current fiscal year totals $7.7 billion.

274 at Garey to receive diplomas

POMONA—Garey High School will award diplomas to 274 students at commencement exercises to be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at Bridges Auditorium on the campus of the Claremont Colleges.

Kathleen Smith, 1973 salutatorian will give the Class Greeting. Valedictorian Brian Clayton will present the Class Farewell.

The Garey High School chorus, under the direction of Ray Woods, will sing, "The Last Words of David," and "I Hear A Voice A-Praying." Woods will also be the organist for the traditional procession and recessional.

Principal Theodore A. Tynes will make the presentation of candidates for diplomas. Response will be given by Supt. Robert E. Wentz. Awarding the diplomas will be Dr. James Bell, member of the Board of Education.

Calvin McDonald, Fred Castro and Eugenia Gregoire will make the Call of Candidates. The invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. Lorenzo DeDominici of St. Joseph Catholic Church.

The graduates are:

Inside the wallet the gunman found five $100 bills Mikel had placed there.

After removing them he tossed the wallet onto the ground and ordered Mikel to lie across the seat of the truck and warned him not to move.

The robber was described as a Negro about 18 to 20, 6 feet and weighing 200 pounds.

He had long sideburns, a large afro hairdo and wore a white, long-sleeved shirt and lavender trousers. He was armed with a .38-caliber revolver with a six-inch barrel.

The fire hydrants would be turned on to provide some form of recreation for children from neighborhoods without parks equipped with sprinkler systems, said Asst. City Administrator Joseph F. Kopsak.

Fire Chief John Fowlkes indicated a special hydrant attachment would be used for maximum spray. He said a schedule would be released at a later date.

Kopsak asked that the project be tried this summer and evaluated for possibly conducting it on an annual basis.

For some reason or other, the program was let out to other agencies before it got to the City Council," said Simms.

"I think it was a very unfortunate situation," said Wright. He added that as a consequence, applicants spilled over from the personnel offices into other city departments.

Pomona High will graduate 379

POMONA — Diplomas will be presented to 379 graduates of Pomona High School when commencement ceremonies are held Wednesday at 6 p.m. in the grandstand of the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds.

Salutatorian Pamela Wine will give the class greetings. The class farewell will be given by Valedictorian Elizabeth Warren.

Music will be provided by the combined Pomona High School Band, the chamber singers and the chamber chorus, all under the direction of Edward Pratt. The senior choir also will sing.

Other class speakers will be Debbie DeStafano, Warren Roberson and Jeff Isenberg. The invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. Lawrence Jackson, pastor of the Friendship Baptist Church.

Principal Joseph E. Andrews will present the candidates for diplomas. The response will be made by Asst. Supt. Sidney G. Moses. Awarding the diplomas will be Joseph E. Gendron, member of the Pomona Board of Education.

Opinion

Europe is moving closer to 'Union'

The 50 states of the United States of America are bound together by the glue of a basic legal document — the Constitution — whose ultimate interpreter is the Supreme Court.

Although the nine members of the European Economic Community — which is the closest Europe has yet come to a "United States of Europe" — have no constitution as such, they do have a common body of agreements and a supranational court of adjudication which is becoming a growing force in the daily lives of Europeans.

This is the European Court of Justice, created by the 1952 Treaty of Paris which established the European Coal and Steel Community, a forerunner of the Common Market.

The court's role is to interpret the various Community treaties and the laws flowing from them in cases of disputes between Community members. But increasingly, notes French journalist Jean Lecerf, writing in the publication European Community, the court is finding itself deciding suits brought by private citizens against their own or other member governments.

For example, one as yet undecided case involves a German engineer who obtained his employer's consent to take a position in Alsace. Soon after his arrival in France, he was the victim of an on-the-job accident. Who pays — the French social security system or the German?

Without the Court of Justice, the engineer might have run up against a double refusal. As it happened, the German court to which the matter was brought deferred judgment pending the European Court's interpretation of the appropriate text.

It also appears likely, says Lecerf, that in coming years the Court of Justice will become an instrument of recourse in the application of Article 119 of the Common Market Treaty, which stipulates that men and women shall receive equal pay for equal work. One female employee of the European Parliament in Luxembourg has already won a case in which she alleged salary discrimination on the basis of sex.

The growing stature of the court has raised an important question: When Community law and national law conflict, which should prevail? A minor case has served to establish the preeminence of the European Court in this area.

It involved an Italian citizen who had been called before a judge for refusing to pay an electricity bill on the grounds that the nationalization of the electric power industry violated the Rome Treaty. The issue was particularly serious in that an opinion of the Italian Constitutional Court had held that any national law overrode an earlier Community statute.

The European Court disagreed, and recent decisions have confirmed the supremacy of Community law.

The court's verdict last July against the Italian government for having continued to levy a tax on exported art objects, a practice prohibited by the Treaty, established a fundamental legal point:

"Application of Community law is to be identical at all times and in all parts of the Community and must prevail over any obstacles that a member state may place in its way," the court declared.

"In relinquishing to the Community the rights and powers corresponding to the Treaty provisions, the member states have effected a definitive limitation of their sovereign rights which no national statute may disallow."

In just such a way did the 13 original American states relinquish their absolute sovereignty 184 years ago when they joined together to form "a more perfect Union."

Good heavens!

Billions for defense, but nothing for the search for extraterrestrial life.

That is the lament of Dr. Carl Sagan, director of the Laboratory for Planetary Studies at Cornell University, who writes in Intellectual Digest that as many as a hundred billion stars in our own galaxy (which is only one of billions of galaxies) might have planetary systems like our own.

Just as the military brass raise the specter of the U.S.S.R. every time they want a few more bombers or something, Sagan notes that the Soviet Union "is now actively pursuing a radioastronomical search for signals from extraterrestrial civilizations on planets of other stars."

For what we spend for a few bombers, says Sagan, we could build a major astronomical facility and be doing the same thing.

Earth-centered cynics, of course, will be tempted to argue that if we spend money NEITHER on bombers NOR in looking for extraterrestrial life we'd be even further ahead.

Thought for today

Do not cast me off in the time of old age; forsake me not when my strength is spent. — Psalm 71:9.

To know how to grow old is the master work of wisdom, and one of the most difficult chapters in the great art of living. — Henry F. Amiel, Swiss philosopher.

Kissinger triggered 'plumbers'

WASHINGTON — Foreign policymaker Henry Kissinger led President Nixon to form "the plumbers," the para-police squad that burglarized the offices of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and engaged in other extra-legal activities.

This is the story former White House aide Charles Colson has given the Watergate prosecutors in private. As Colson related it, Kissinger got the President so "psyched up" over security leaks that he authorized the plumbers to plug the leaks. Afterward, Kissinger tried to run the plumbers squad through his aide David Young, claimed Colson.

Colson described Kissinger as approaching "near hysteria" over the leak of the Pentagon Papers. One reason for his excitement, Colson suggested, was that the chief leaker, Daniel Ellsberg, formerly had worked for Kissinger.

Sources close to Kissinger confirmed he had been alarmed over the Pentagon Papers Leak, which he feared could have "disastrous consequences." No doubt Kissinger told the President of his concern, said these sources.

They denied, however, that Kissinger had anything to do with the formation or operation of the plumbers. The squad was formed, they recall, while Kissinger was on his secret mission to Peking. Young joined the squad and came under White House aid John Ehrlichman's control while Kissinger was away, insist these sources.

Kissinger has searched his logs, they say, to check whether he had any contact with Young after his former aide became a plumber. After checking both his logs and his memory, Kissinger is quite sure he never visited or spoke with Young after the plumbers went into business.

Washington whirl

BUSING GENERALS: For years Air Force Generals from Bolling Air Force Base have hopped aboard an elegantly appointed ship each morning for a ride down the Potomac to the Pentagon. Last January, to the generals' mortification, we informed them that beneath all the fine red carpeting, their daily ferry boat was falling apart. The ship, we wrote, required $26,000 in repairs. The generals apparently got the message. Bolling has discontinued the boat service, and now the generals either drive themselves to work or — believe it or not — take an Air Force bus.

MILITARY CONCERN: Now that the troops are home from Vietnam, the brass hats have turned their attention to lesser matters, for example, Maj. Gen. Warren K. Bennett, the Third Army's chief of staff, lectured his fellow officers at a recent staff conference on the virtues of a V-neck undershirt as opposed to Army-issued O-necks. The general also issued a memorandum to the troops at Ft. McPherson, Ga., advising them of the necessity to keep hedges trimmed, lawns mowed and trees pruned.

SUPPRESSED SCIENTIST: There's evidence that famed federal scientist Dr. Oscar Liu, who found ominous viruses in the water supplies in Washington, D.C., and Lawrence, Mass., was railroaded out of his job for the discovery. Liu was then head of virology at the Environmental Protection Agency's water supply lab. Suddenly, he was transferred to what he said was work "on a bench as a technician." EPA insists that the transfer was intended merely to make sure Liu "has an opportunity to work on a team rather than direct an operation." But an investigation by one of EPA's own examiners has now found that Liu clearly has been downgraded following publicity about his discovery. The examiners' recommendation: "Duties more commensurate with his former duties."

Gossip for today

Maybe they haven't yet figured out a way to cure the common cold but that doesn't mean our doctors aren't showing some progress in their efforts to alleviate human suffering and improve the health of mankind. Want proof? Well, how about this?

One doctor has announced that within two years drugs should be available to prevent baldness.

And another medical authority now advises that women shouldn't scrub the dirt off vegetables. Far better, he contends that they throw the vegetables, dirt and all, into the pot and let the dirt boil off. The resulting juice, he says, is very healthful.

INSIDE REPORT

Laird to keep his staff small

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The revolutionary changes now going on in the White House were dramatized at last Thursday's cabinet meeting when President Nixon said that Laird had flatly rejected the kind of large, personal staff which marked the un-mourned days of H. R. (Bob) Haldeman and John Ehrlichman.

With Laird sitting with him, Mr. Nixon told the cabinet meeting, enlarged for the first time by the presence of the House and Senate Republican leaders, that Laird would work directly with cabinet members "and their own staffs."

That Laird pledge, if kept, amounts to a virtual policy revolution in the Nixon administration. Now, instead of domestic policy being made by White House super-powers operating in semi-isolation from the major executive departments, Laird will keep his White House staff small and work directly with cabinet members and their staffs.

This direct contact between Laird and the executive agencies will be matched by similar high-level contact between Bryce Harlow, expected to be named as the newest White House counselor, and the Democratic Congress.

Final arrangements for Harlow to take still another of his perennial leaves of absence from Proctor & Gamble are not completed, but the odds are strong that he will move back to the White House on July 1.

Laird, Kissinger in agreement

Less clear than Laird's preeminent role as domestic policy chief is his special role, disclosed by the President, as a regular attendant at National Security Council meetings, presided over by Henry Kissinger. As former Defense Secretary, Laird and Kissinger substantially agreed on most security matters, but they had some significant differences, particularly on the question of trade with the Communist world. Laird, a sponge-like absorber of power, worries some NSC staffers.

But Laird and Kissinger conferred privately and at length in the White House last week before Laird's appointment was announced. Friends of both say Kissinger told Laird that as of now he intended to keep his job as Mr. Nixon's top foreign policy adviser. Should Kissinger change his mind, however, it is agreed at the highest White House levels that Gen. Alexander M. Haig, Jr., now the White House staff chief, would take over as national security adviser.

Rewriting history

While most Democratic politicians are courting party unity, Sen. George McGovern's 1972 presidential campaign manager is blasting away at two of the party's senior figures: Sens. Hubert Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie.

Gary Hart, in a forthcoming campaign memoir called "Right from the Start" (Quadrangle), has harsh words for Humphrey, Muskie and just about everybody else who opposed McGovern for the nomination. He also supplies two new historical footnotes reflecting adversely on Humphrey and Muskie. But others with firsthand knowledge of the two incidents (including McGovern men) say Hart is rewriting history.

Incident No. 1: Less than 48 hours before the June 6 California Democratic primary, Hart writes, Humphrey offered to deliver an election night endorsement in return for McGovern picking up "a quarter of a million dollars of Humphrey campaign debts." So, Hart contends, Humphrey really cared little about issues or ideology. Humphrey backed out, says Hart, when the primary results were closer than expected.

In rebuttal, the two negotiators identified by Hart — Max Kampelman for Humphrey and Ted Van Dyk for McGovern — separately gave us similar versions far different from Hart's. They agreed the negotiations were informal and inconclusive, no firm offer of money was ever made and no Humphrey endorsement as early as primary election night was ever contemplated. Furthermore, Kampelman told us the conversations were initiated by Van Dyk, not the Humphrey campaign.

Incident No. 2: Among Muskie's three conditions for becoming McGovern's second runningmate, Hart writes, was "control of the configuration of the vice presidential campaign jet . . . while democracy tottered in the balance, we seriously debated the interior decoration of an airplane!" Moreover, Hart implies McGovern never really made a firm vice presidential offer to Muskie.

In rebuttal, others present at the Aug. 4 McGovern-Muskie staff meeting say Muskie was demanding control over the financing and operations of the vice presidential campaign and that Muskie staffers mentioned their campaign jet only in passing. By all counts, McGovern did make a firm offer to Muskie though many of his staffers (Hart included) disagreed.

A footnote: Other McGovern operatives are furious at the criticism of them in Hart's book. "Hart's account of the campaign is like a Dr. Goebbel's writing the history of the battle of Stalingrad," a high McGovern campaign aide told us. Hart may get little help from his former McGovernite colleagues in his expected fight for the Democratic Senate nomination from Colorado next year.

Mrs. Kirby Nolte, left, and Mrs. Darrel Johnston stop children from crossing what was once a short cut to Vejar Elementary School. The path is now busy with tractors and construction equipment as a Kaufman

Club pulls guard duty at site of construction job

WALNUT — Members of the Walnut Junior Women's Club will take to the Kaufman and Broad home construction site here this week to keep children from playing in the area or crossing the path of heavy construction equipment.

The site, adjacent to Vejar Elementary School, is busy with tractors and construction equipment moving earth across a path usually used by children going to and from school. A street will replace the dirt path once the housing project is completed.

Kaufman and Broad is donating $1,000 to the juniors for their help in keeping the area safe. The money will be used to build new playground equipment at Sazane Park in Walnut.

Club members begin their guard at 7 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m. at both entrances to the Vejar Elementary path. Mrs. Keith Green, ways and means chairman, is scheduling women in three-hour shifts.

Parents are asked to send their children to school this final week via Centinany Drive north to McGill Street over the passageway to Macalester Street then west to Vejar Road.

MSAC offers full summer schedule

WALNUT — More than 200 classes covering 50 majors are being offered during the summer session at Mt. San Antonio College beginning Monday.

Registrations for the six-week session will close June 15.

New and returning students will register on the patio of Building 5 from 1 to 4 and 6 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday.

Continuing students already are registered.

Classes will be offered in day and evening programs during the summer. Counseling will be available during the registration period.

Texts and materials needed for all classes are on sale in the Sac Book Rac on campus.

L.P. Adult School will graduate 80

LA PUENTE — La Puente Adult High School will hold graduation ceremonies for more than 80 students who will receive their high school diplomas tonight at 8.

The ceremony will take place at the La Puente Community Building on Glen-dora Avenue, next to La Puente High School.

Presiding over the program will be Roy Bailey, coordinator of the school, and Tom Johnson, director of La Puente Valley Adult Schools. Robert C. Calvo, California State Department of Education consultant for adult education, will be the special guest speaker.

Negotiation talks on R. H. agenda

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — Reports on the most recent Certified Employees Council meetings, concerning salary negotiations with district employees, will be one of the highlights of the regular meeting of the Rowland Board of Education Thursday night.

The board meets at the district offices, 1830 Nogales St. However, the meeting this week will not begin until 8:30 p.m.

The trustees will also receive information regarding the purchase of portable buildings for use next year.

The district has a contract with Aurora Modular Industries, to supply four portables at the price of $2,351 annually for seven years for a total of $13,995.

WALNUT ART

painted for a school science room in which their concepts of past and future are depicted.

2 student muralists score a hit with Walnut classroom project

WALNUT — A student-painted mural on the wall of a science room at Walnut High School has made such a hit there may be many more to come.

This prediction was made today by Don C. Morris, art department chairman, who supervised the project.

The mural was painted by seniors Dennis Mayerski and Joe Viescas, who depicted their concepts of past and future in the art work.

Each student designed and completed one-half of the painting. The scenes are both landscapes in semicircle frames. Both paintings include insects. One contains a futuristic bug; the other, a giant ant.

"The art department is very pleased and proud of the accomplishment of these two fine young artists," Morris said. "This mural was our first attempt, but considering the response, I have a feeling that Walnut High School will have many more before we're through."

Viescas, who did the left half of the mural, said, "It is my interpretation of the future — a vast mountainous range, very lonely and plain, with a mechanical insect created by M. C. Escher."

He said his entire family is involved in art in some way. He has also taken art lessons at Mt. San Antonio College.

Regarding his contribution, Mayerski said, "My reason for painting the mural was the challenge involved. My side symbolizes the past, gradually leading to destruction and then the future."

"I like to paint subjects that are unusual in that they are not often painted," he added.

AMEN, BRETHREN! — That's the cool message from this Omaha, Neb., church for the folks who have found temperatures in the 90's too high.

Mexican-Americans only group with right to district-Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said Monday the Mexican-American community in California was the only ethnic minority group that had a "legitimate claim" for a legislative district of its own.

He also said he believed American Indians have not made "en-masse" a decision to either hold to their heritage or join "the community and become an Americanized member of the community."

The governor discussed Mexican-American demands for increased representation in the legislature and Indian grievances with a group of political science students from the College of Marin.

He outlined his views on reapportionment as a panel of judges appointed by the state Supreme Court prepared to hold a redistricting hearing here Tuesday preparatory to drawing new district lines for the legislature.

The governor repeated his contention that voter registration figures should play no part in reapportionment and that lines should be drawn to reflect "communities of interest."

He said he did not believe the same type of language problems were faced by American Indians in California.

"As I see it, what is so hard for them to reconcile is the conflict between their heritage and way of life, which to a certain extent is lived on the reservation, and the opportunity to do as everyone else has in America and simply come out and joined the community and become an Americanized member of the community."

He said until Mexican-Americans as a group have "melted" into the larger California community, their inability to compete in English in education might be reason enough for providing for a district that needs a special "representative voice."

The legislature's reapportionment bill, now undergoing resolution in a conference committee, contains a "Chi-

What's your reason for not buying a home now?

TROUBLED OVER HIGH INTEREST RATES

It is true interest rates have risen, but they do seem to have stabilized in the past several months. And while the rates may seem high, they are not climbing as rapidly as are labor and material costs. An increase or a decrease of $\frac{1}{2}$ percent in interest rates only amounts to 30c per month per \$1000 on a 25 year loan. Is it really wise to deny yourself the security, pleasure and pride of home ownership on the vague hope of interest rates going down, thus saving you only \$3 or \$4 a month? The value of your home will increase at a much faster rate than can be gained by any lowering of interest rates. NOW is a good time to buy!

WONDER WHERE TO BEGIN LOOKING?

Worry no more... most folks have found that the best place to shop for that new or lived-in home is in the Classified Real Estate columns of the Progress-Bulletin. It's here (and only here) that each day you'll find the very latest offerings of homes 'for sale'... advertised by the area's leading real estate firms and builders. Check the want ads today—and every day—to find the home that satisfies all your needs.

CAMPING FUN — Learning to cook over an open fire is one of the many joys of attending Camp Fire Girls day camping programs.

By Camp FireDay camps scheduled

Camp Fire Girls, Mt. San Antonio Council, has scheduled a variety of day camps throughout the council's jurisdiction. With the closing of school, day camps are being offered to acquaint girls with living and working out of doors.

Palomares District, which includes Diamond Bar, Pomona, La Verne, San Dimas and Walnut, will go to Picnic Hill at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds June 19, 20, 21 and June 26, 27 and 28 from 2 to 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Martha Cuthell, the director, plans to perfect the many outdoor skills the girls have acquired at their Tajar Workshops the district sponsors. Nature craft and outdoor cooking are highlights of the girl's stay at camp. Assisting Mrs. Cuthell are Grace Underwood, camp chairman; Barbara McManis, assistant director; Harriet Hartshorn, nurse; Pat Caro, teen-aid director; Ernestine Pitts, purchaser; Jan Montgomery, May Warner and Kim Warner, unit director for Blue Birds; and Nancy McDonald, unit director for Camp Fire.

Counselors are Ann Jones, Jean Silver, Anna Carl, Georganna Hoover, Elizabeth Gonzales, Mary Morris and Diane Carrigan.

Craft and Workshop specialists are Ida Good, Nancy Kramer, Shirley Wulffing, Laura May Warner and Kim Warner.

The Chaffey District, including Alta Loma, Chino, Cucamonga, Montclair, Ontario and Upland, will also hold its day camp in July at the fairgrounds. Picnic Hill area, July 24, 25, 26 and 31 and Aug. 1 and 2 is also a twilight camp which is becoming popular since the girls are able to do many things in the cool of the evening. Mrs. Lynne Bakman of Montclair and Mrs. Jan Ludolph of Alta Loma are dividing the responsibilities as cochairmen.

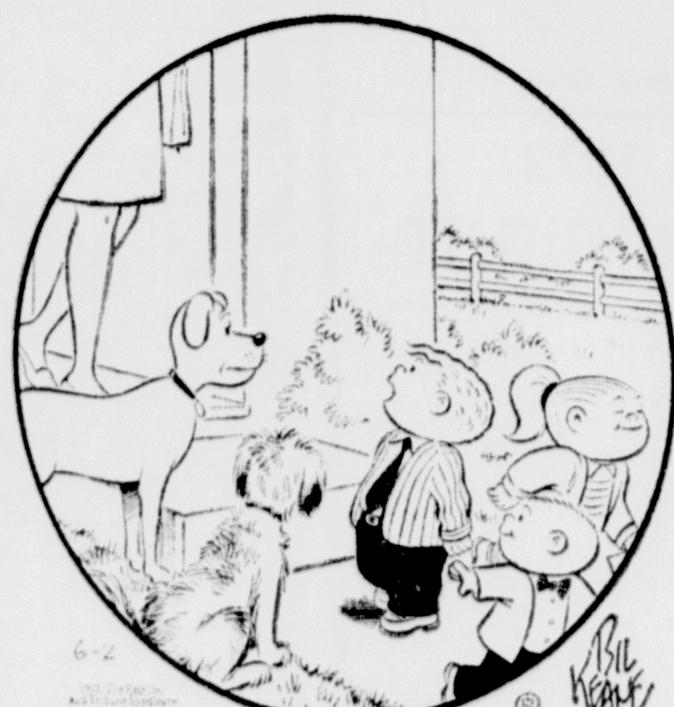

A special day camp will be held at Ralph Welch Park July 10, 11, 12 and 17, 18, 19 with the help of the Horizon Club members who are high school students. Starting at 10 in the morning until 3 in the afternoon the neighborhood day camp will be open to boys and girls who need not be registered members of the Camp Fire organization. This camp will be within walking distance of the children so there will be no bus service and therefore no charge. This special activity will be in charge of IGOR or Inter-Group Out Reach being run in cooperation with the Girl Scouts, the YMCA and the Camp Fire Girls. The highlight of the six days will be a carnival on July 19.

Greater New Light Baptist Church, with the Rev. L. E. Gibbs as pastor, in cooperation with the Camp Fire Girls neighborhood worker, Mrs. Connie Turner, will conduct a day camp five days a week from June 25 through Aug. 24 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. There will be no transportation involved as it is conducted mainly for the Arroyo School area children (both boys and girls). Camp Fire Girls will be classified as specialists as will workers from the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

Specialty Day Camps offered for the older girls include a Sailing Camp at the Frank Bonelli Regional Park June 23 from 1 to 5 p.m., June 24 from 3 to 8 p.m. and June 30 and July 1. This program for high school girls is in conjunction with the Pomona Valley Sailing Association. Miss Sharon Albaugh of Hacienda Heights is the chairman.

Origin, care of hosiery in booklet

Hosiery has been around for a long time, but its origins and its care have long been shrouded in mystery. A new pamphlet by The Gillette Company, Personal Care Division, traces hosiery back to its humble beginnings as woolen leggings for shepherds and up to its modern role as an important fashion accessory.

The pamphlet featuring Phyllis George, Miss America of 1971, tells of the latest looks in hosiery and how the looks are worn. Finally, the pamphlet deals with the proper care of hosiery and gives practical tips on prolonging hosiery's brief life span.

The pamphlet is available free to everyone. To get your copy direct your request to Box PT, The Gillette Company, Personal Care Division, Merchandise Mart, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

MR. AND MRS. P. R. LA FORGE

Couple marks milestone

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. LaForge was celebrated at a party at Claremont Village Green hosted by their niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson.

Assisting were two great-nieces and two great-nephews.

Mr. LaForge retired from Willard Storage Battery Company in Cleveland, Ohio.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. R. G. Kelley from San Antonio, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown from San Diego.

Depression glass group sets auction

The Montclair Depression Glass Society will meet at the Montclair City Library on Benito Street at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Members are each asked to bring three pieces of glass they wish to auction off.

Cochairmen of the meeting are Jim and June Eberhardt. Visitors are welcome.

Clean camper

The painted aluminum parts of the camper or mobile home should be cleaned with water and a mild cleaner. Generally, a touch of a soft sponge is all the assistance needed.

Catholic Daughters Conduct joint rites

Courts Queen of Heaven and Court Our Lady of Fatima of the Catholic Daughters of America conducted joint installation ceremonies at the Ontario Woman's Clubhouse.

District deputies
Mrs. Martha Nastriero of Court St. Joseph 1410 and Mrs. Mary Duffy from the local court were installing officers. Mrs. Pauline Martinez was assisting monitor.

Officers of Court Queen of Heaven installed were Mmes. Gladys Iverson, regent; Helen Wauls, first vice regent, Kay Sumro, second vice regent; Gertrude Campbell, financial secretary; Agatha Brost, recording secretary; Marcelli Wood, treasurer; Nina Buckman, monitor; Minah Sue Wermuth, lecturer; Margaret Cicero and Frances McCann, trustees.

Court Our Lady of Fatima officers are Mmes. Barbara Warren, regent; Lilla Lucas, first vice regent; Carol White, second vice regent; Betty Lucas, financial secretary; Alice Krejci, recording secretary; Frances Gallardo, treasurer; Josephine Ochoa, monitor; Rita Wolfe, lecturer; Irene Brzinski and Ann Castellini, trustees.

Among the special guests at the installation rites were the state treasurer, area chairmen, district deputies and regents from many of the surrounding courts.

Attention, brides

The Progress-Bulletin Women's Department looks forward to printing the stories of your engagement and wedding.

Please pick up engagement and wedding forms at the newspaper office and return them with the picture you wish used.

Engagement forms are not accepted if they are received less than five weeks before the wedding, and wedding forms should be returned within two weeks after the wedding with a picture of the bride only.

Snapshots, polaroid and color pictures are not acceptable for wedding pictures, although most color photos will be accepted for engagement announcements.

Public TV spokesmen plead for more money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Public television already had to make drastic cutbacks in its programming, but the White House seems bound to keep it on a starvation diet with barely enough federal money to survive, according to industry executives.

Officials of both the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB), which manages the federal effort in the non-commercial broadcasting field, and the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS), the network linking the nation's 237 public TV stations, made that charge Monday in pleading with Congress for more money.

They urged a House Commerce subcommittee to reject the administration's request for a one-year spending level of $45 million for the 12 months beginning July 1, and to replace it with a two-year appropriation of $60 million for the first year and $70 million for the second.

President Nixon last year vetoed a two-year funding

Endowment for operas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Opera companies and related organizations will receive $2.9 million in fiscal 1973 from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Thirty-four companies will benefit from the grants, $1 million of which came from private sources and $1.9 million from Federal funds.

Medium says Tarzan star is alive in another world

NEW YORK (UPI) — British medium Margaret Staves, a plump pigeon-like woman who was flown in from London for the event, sank into a labored trance, jerked and moaned. Then she grabbed for the nearest hand, announced she had made contact, and said "He speaks and is alive in another world."

"Because we do not now know—and may not for some time—what our funding will be for the coming year, we have been forced to plan for the third year in a row on the basis of $35 million," CPB Chairman James R. Killian Jr. testified. "This has forced us—because of rising costs—to cut television programming drastically."

"Production groups have had to disband, and if we later are able to fund them, they will have to be reassembled at a considerable cost of both talent and money," he said.

PBS Chairman Ralph B. Rogers of Dallas asked: "Is it fair any longer to starve public broadcasting when so many local communities have stretched and strained to keep it going?"

"Millions of people," he added, "throughout the nation are getting the impression that local efforts are not appreciated; that some persons and projects who do least to support themselves can expect more from the federal government than those, such as public broadcasting, which has demonstrated strong support at the local level."

Both Rogers and Killian said they felt long-range financing was important to keep public broadcasting free from the kinds of political pressures which build up when the industry has to go to Congress every year to ask for money.

for a television seance to call up his spirit.

Surrounding Miss Staves in the hotel suite, lined with velvet chairs and silk wallpaper, were Hollywood parapsychologists and several friends, including actress Joan Fontaine and New York Socialite, Pat Uchitel, both of whom had experienced shock at Barker's sudden death. Miss Staves gave his widow personal messages purportedly from Barker and a set of instructions to his son Alexander, a restaurant owner.

Her voice was so soft, it could hardly be heard among the audience of reporters and TV cameramen who strained to catch her words. At one point the clattering of a collapsing camera stand and a sneezing fit by a local reporter threatened to interrupt her trance.

Barker, who is remembered by cinema buffs for his daring rope-swings through the jungle, last January wrote a secret sealed message along with three other movie stars with spiritualist leanings — Rhonda Fleming, Arlene Dahl, and Robert Cummings—and had them deposited in a bank vault. The three then signed agreements whereby each would attempt to contact mediums at seances one month after their deaths to transmit the messages.

Miss Staves, however, said although she could see the message, which was written in a large looped scrawl, she could only make out a few words.

The newspaper National Enquirer, which sponsored the experiment and the seance, said it would take several days to retrieve Barker's message from the vault and check to see if the words mentioned by Miss Staves corresponded.

Barker's family and friends, however, did not

NFL players linked to drug traffic

NEW YORK (UPI) — Four star players in the National Football League have been linked to an illegal drug traffic, it was reported today by the New York Times, but the NFL declared it had "no specific information" on the matter.

According to The Times article, information supplied by federal, state, and local narcotics agents found two unidentified teammates suspected to be dealing cocaine in a multimillion dollar smuggling ring. Another player is suspected to have helped finance a dealer's involvement with cocaine, while the other player is believed to be connected with substantial quantities.

All four players are and have been under surveillance, the dispatch said.

A spokesman for the league released the following statement:

"This office has no specific information on material contained in The Times story, especially considering that the story does not identify sources, nor deal with specific persons."

"As has always been the case in the past, we are ready and willing to cooperate with any law enforcement body or bodies who may have information beyond what we have accumulated in this or any other area."

Jack Donahy, the NFL's security director and former Federal Bureau of Investigation agent, put off the report involving the two teammates last season and called it a "fairy tale."

But a narcotics agent said Monday that the two players were very close to being apprehended last year.

"The NFL knows this drug traffic would be its Watergate," said one agent involved in the case. "It could explode anytime," the Times said.

During the past 18 months several players in the league have been arrested for possession of drugs. They include: Duane Thomas, the moody running back of the San Diego Chargers; Lance Rentzel, a wide receiver with the Los Angeles Rams; and Don Parish, a line-backer with the Denver Broncos.

Thomas received a suspended five-year sentence and was placed on probation for possession of marijuana.

Rentzel was sentenced to 90 days in jail, fined $2,000 and placed on three years probation for possession of marijuana. The sentence was stayed, pending appeal. His indictment also had included possession of cocaine and hashish.

Parish was arrested last Nov. 13 for possession of cocaine but pleaded not guilty. On March 21 he was ordered to enter a drug rehabilitation program for one year.

There was also a recent disclosure that there had been drug misuses (pep pills) by San Diego Chargers from 1968-1969. The allegations appeared in sworn depositions by Charger players and stated that the Chargers' organization received as many as 10,000 prescription drugs a year in that span, including pep pills, sleeping pills, pain-killers and sedatives. The depositions also indicated the drug misuse took place on the Kansas City Chiefs, the Oakland Raiders, and Cincinnati Bengals.

In an effort to curb its drug problem, the story said, the NFL plans to establish tighter guidelines regarding the dispensing of drugs, particularly stimulants, by its 26 teams. The matter will be discussed when the clubowners convene in New York in two weeks for their annual June meeting.

State Senate is eager to prohibit blackouts

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The state Senate has voted to prohibit television "blackouts" of postseason professional football games in California if the contests were sold out 10 days in advance.

The measure (SB14) by Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, was sent to the Assembly Monday on a 23-9 vote, just two more than the 21 required for passage.

Opposing the bill was Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, who said it would mean a loss in revenue to the City of San Francisco because of reduced attendance and consequent loss of income from parking fees and beer and hot dog sales. The city handles concessions at its football stadium.

Thomas received a suspended five-year sentence and was placed on probation for possession of marijuana.

Rentzel was sentenced to 90 days in jail, fined $2,000 and placed on three years probation for possession of marijuana. The sentence was stayed, pending appeal. His indictment also had included possession of cocaine and hashish.

ticket-holders did not attend because it was televised locally.

But another San Francisco senator, Republican Milton Marks, said the public had a right to see the playoff games on television because the football teams play in publicly financed stadiums.

Marks said the main financial loss would be to private concessionaires and that "should not be a consideration."

Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, said it was not "proper" for the state to restrict private enterprise as it would under the bill. He said there was no "constitutional right" of the public to "watch free of charge a game being played in a public stadium."

If the measure is enacted into law, it would not apply, however, to games played before Jan. 1, 1974. Under the state Constitution, the bill could not take effect until that date unless it contains a special "urgency" provision.

Moscone argued attendance drops at sold-out games when they are televised. He cited the Super Bowl in Los Angeles this year which he said several thousand

Trojans near another NCAA crown after downing rival Arizona State

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — The defending champion Southern California Trojans remained the only undefeated team in the College World Series today following a hard-fought 3-1 triumph over No. 1 rated Arizona State Monday night.

The Trojans face Big Ten champion Minnesota in tonight's late game and, barring an upset, will go into the final game Wednesday evening against the winner of this evening's other game between Arizona State and Texas.

Should Southern Cal lose tonight, the final game would be extended until Thursday evening.

Minnesota stayed in contention Monday by eliminating Georgia Southern 8-2 and Texas kept its hopes alive by ousting Oklahoma 10-2.

Catcher Ed Putnam was the hero of the evening in the win over Arizona State. He rapped a bases loaded single in the fifth, scoring two runs and breaking a 1-1 tie.

The single also heralded the removal of Sun Devil pitcher Doug Slocum, who left the game with his first loss of the year against 13 wins. Trojan pitcher Russ McQueen won his fifth of the season against three losses in going the distance.

Arizona State's only run came in the fourth when Tommy Sain singled home Clint Myers. However, the Trojans came back in the bottom of the inning on another single, this one by Putnam, scoring Daryl Arenstein.

Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson expressed "particular pleasure" with his team's 10 hits in stopping Oklahoma. He said he regarded Sooner pitcher Jackson Todd "one of the really fine college pitchers in the country."

He said his own pitcher, Dick Wurtham, "pitched the way we knew he was capable of pitching all along. He's had some shaky starts, but he has looked very good in practice recently and he is thinking and using his head out there more."

Gustafson said he was undecided about who to use tonight. He hinted he is thinking toward Jim Gideon (4-5), a freshman.

Georgia Southern Coach Ron Polk said his team made critical errors at crucial times and didn't hit very well in the loss to Minnesota.

Both teams were idle Monday.

CLAREMONT — A chance comment on an airplane flight has led baseball coach Bill Arce of Claremont-Mudd to what has developed into almost a second-career.

The Stags mentor frequently spends his summers abroad conducting baseball clinics and youth camps while coaching European teams.

To date he's made six trips to the continent and his seventh will begin Friday morning at 7:30. He'll fly to Rome to assume the responsibility of coaching the Italian National Baseball Team which will compete in the European championships at Haarlem, Holland, June 30-July 8.

He'll also be conducting more clinics and youth camps this trip and will not return to Claremont until September 10.

It was back in 1960 while on a plane flight that Arce ran across a newspaper story concerning the European baseball tournament. He told his traveling companion, Dr. John Nixon of Stanford, "Gee, that would be a great way to spend a sabbatical in Europe."

At the time, Arce gave no more thought to such a possibility. But Dr. Nixon didn't forget. As it happened, about six months later Nixon received a letter from a friend of his who just happened to be the American Consul in Amsterdam, Holland.

BOBBLES THROW

Ron Cey of the Dodgers is safe at second base as shortstop Larry Bowa of the Phillies bobbles the throw from Denny Doyle on a second inning hit by Von Joshua, who was safe on a fielder's choice.

Philly too hot for Sutton

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Don Sutton tried not to, and as things turned out, he may as well not have.

"Sure I thought about a no-hitter," he said, "just before Larry Bowa got a hit. Before I got behind on him, I felt I really had a shot at it."

Bowa got the Phillies' first hit Monday night in the sixth inning and Cesar Tovar followed with a single but Sutton hung on, with ninth inning relief help, to register his eighth victory in 12 decisions as the Los Angeles Dodgers trimmed Philadelphia 5-3.

The Dodgers sent 10 men to the plate and scored four runs in the second inning despite the summer heat, one of Philadelphia's hottest for the date, but Sutton was having a hard time enjoying the advantage.

"Boy, I love cold weather," he said. "I'd rather pitch somewhere where it's nice and cool. It really took a lot out of me. It was only something like 90 degrees out there but it's about 97 per cent humidity."

The Phillies, after breaking the drought in the sixth, scored their first run an inning later on Greg Luzinski's solo home. Luzinski then jumped on Sutton for another homer in the ninth with a man on.

"Sure I had good control," Sutton said. "I got two balls right where Greg Luzinski wanted it."

Pete Richert took over with two outs and a runner on second in the ninth to retire the Phillies after Sutton had allowed six hits and three runs. It was Richert's sixth save.

Dave Lopes and Joe Ferguson accounted for two of the Dodgers runs with singles and Bill Russell drove in another run with a sacrifice fly in the second inning.

Los Angeles' other two runs were scored on a wild pitch and a passed ball.

It was the Dodgers' fourth straight victory over the Phils and their fifth win in the last seven games.

Starter Dick Ruthven lasted only 1 2-3 innings for Philadelphia and picked up the loss for his fifth defeat in six decisions.

Andy Messersmith, 6-5, goes for Los Angeles tonight against the Phils' Steve Carlton, 6-7.

Gross, Stajduhar sign Oakland A's contracts

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — Cal Poly lost its top athlete to the pros Monday.

Wayne Gross, who had recently been selected as Poly's Athlete of the Year by the Bronco coaches, reported Monday that he had signed a professional baseball contract with the Oakland A's and will be reporting to Oakland's Class A, Northwest League farm club at Lewiston, Idaho, Wednesday.

Gross will have company at Lewiston as La Verne College's Marty Stajduhar also signed with Oakland and will be reporting to the Idaho city.

Two other La Verne players signed as free agents. Second baseman Dan Clark is going to Tri-Cities, Wash. while pitcher Bob Jones reports to Portland, Ore. They will also be seeing action in the Northwest League.

Gross is the second Poly player to sign. Outfielder Mitchell Page is reporting to the Pittsburgh Pirates' camp in Bradenton, Fla. After agreeing to terms last week, pitcher Mike Seberger is still unsigned after preliminary talks with the Minnesota Twins.

Page was drafted on the third round by the Pirates while Gross went on the ninth round. Stajduhar was selected on the 19th round.

Poly is losing a two-sport athlete in Gross, who is only a junior.

Besides making the All-California Collegiate Athletic Association team as a first baseman, Gross was also an outstanding punter and tight end in football. His signing is a major blow to coach Roy Anderson's gridiron plans.

"I figured this is good time to sign," Gross said. "I got what I wanted and felt this is the best opportunity I would get. I always wanted to give professional baseball a good try."

The 6-2, 205-pound Gross is thankful for his experiences at Poly.

"I learned a lot this past season," he explained. "I know it has built my confidence. John Scolinos is the best coach I have ever played for. I feel bad about leaving now but this is a great opportunity I couldn't turn down. I do plan to return to Poly to finish my education."

Gross hit .307 for the Broncos this past season with 59 hits, six home runs and 30 runs batted in. In football, he was among the nation's leaders with a 42.1 punting average. He also caught 29 passes for 373 yards.

Voted the Player of the Year in Riverside County after his senior season at Riverside Poly High, Gross was one of the Broncos' top recruits.

Stajduhar, a transfer from United States International University, hit .344 to help La Verne win the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference championship.

Jim Beal and Dave Bewley of the Lancers had signed contracts earlier.

Arce: good will ambassador

THE BIG LEAP

USC's Roy Smalley leaps high to avoid Arizona State's Bump in 1966, 1969, and 1971.

Following the return of the team in 1971, Arce had a second sabbatical leave available and had planned to conduct clinics in France and Italy in the fall of 1971.

However it was at this time that the coach of Dutch National Team resigned and Arce was asked to coach the team in the European Championship Tournament in Parma, Italy.

Arce guided the Dutch team to the title, defeating the Italian team two games out of three in the championship series. As European champions, the team was invited to play six exhibition games in the Catalan Festival in Barcelona, Spain. That was followed by a trip to Madrid for more tournament play.

In 1969 Arce was able to conduct baseball clinics in Sweden with the Iron Curtain in Prague, Czechoslovakia. In 1971, he was invited to return to Sweden where he inaugurated youth baseball camps in Leksand.

The youth baseball camps Arce started in Holland in 1963 have been repeated every summer. "And the one given in Sweden in 1971 was repeated last year and is planned as an annual to the best of my knowledge," he added. "That's one of the more satisfying results of the camp."

Arce holds two and sometimes three clinics a day and has been on the field morning, afternoon, and night at times. He has conducted as many as 21 clinics in a seven-day period.

The C-M coach was originally scheduled to return to Holland this year, but due to some confusion among Dutch Administrators, the coach whom he had arranged to take his place last year was also invited.

The dilemma was solved when Arce was contacted by the Italian team that he had beaten in 1971 invited to coach them.

"Baseball has become very popular in Europe," he said. "In the last 10 years, there's been quite an improvement in the way they play the sport. They're still way behind the Cubans and the Japanese and some of the Central and South American countries but they have more good players today than they've ever had. The Italian and Dutch National Teams could play in the NCAA Tournament and not embarrass themselves."

Arce certainly has not embarrassed himself with his international achievements and recognition.

"It's a fairly expensive hobby," he said, "but one I don't think I can afford to give up due to the enriching experience and satisfaction that comes from seeing our game of baseball developing and better understanding between people resulting from interaction on and off the field."

Why UCLA won

Brute power

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jim Bush has a good reason why his UCLA Bruins were able to capture their third straight NCAA track championship last weekend: It's got something to do with brute power.

"We think we are just as good as Secretariat," Bush told a Southern California Track and Field Writers meeting Monday. "We have a good stable of horses."

But, unlike the powerful thoroughbred, there is no reason why the team can't come back just as strong next year, according to the Bruin coach.

"If James McAlister comes back and Dwight Stones returns, along with the new athletes we have coming in, we could be great again next year," Bush said.

The UCLA squad will lose only three of its top athletes to graduation; triple jumpers Milan Tiff, who set an NCAA record of 54 2 1/4, and Harry Freeman; and long jumper Finn Bendixen, the new NCAA titlist in his event.

Bush, turning his attention now to his duties as the coach of the U.S. team about to depart on a summer tour of Europe, said he will be looking at the results of the AAU finals at Bakersfield for the top two finishers in each event to add to the team.

HE NEVER QUITS — Sam Snead will play in his 34th U.S. Open championship when play opens Thursday at Oakmont, Pa.

Snead takes his 34th try at winning elusive Open

OAKMONT, Pa. (UPI) —

Sam Snead never quits.

All he does is talk about the day he "might," but at 61, he's hitting that little white ball as true and silky smooth as he ever did, and that's how come he's here now still trying to win his first U.S. Open golf championship.

Snead has won them all except this one, and to give you an inkling of how long he's been trying this is his 34th shot at it.

"I played in my first Open in 1937," said Snead, pouring the contents of a beer can into a glass in front of his locker, taking great care not to spill the liquid.

"The last Open I played in was at Hazeltine up in Minnesota three years ago," said Slammín Sam, having to think back a little. "I didn't play in the Open the past two years because one time they didn't send me a form (entry blank), and last year I didn't qualify."

Snead also missed qualifying once before, a half dozen years ago. Apart from that he invariably has been up there on the firing line each time the Open starts as this one will Thursday, shooting for that one big win which has been so frustratingly elusive.

had to beat out blond, stocky, Wally Burkemo.

A trace of sourness runs through Snead's voice as he speaks about the way people always seem to throw up the fact to him that he never has been able to win the Open.

Snead gave some thought to the prospect, and smiled.

"It'd keep people from scratching my back a little," he said, meaning it would cut down on some of the flak he has caught down through the years because of his continued failure to win the Open.

"Winning this again wouldn't mean much to someone like Nicklaus or Trevino," went on Snead, a man who has won 84 PGA Co-Sponsored Events in his time and was elected to golf's Hall of Fame 20 years ago. "At the moment I could cash in more than them, but who wants a 61-year-old horse?"

Snead knows the Oakmont Country Club course, site of this year's Open almost as well as he knows his living room.

He should. He has competed in three different Opens here and won the PGA championship on this course back in 1951. That goes back a little while, far enough so that the PGA still was being contested at match play and to win the title that year, Snead says. "My chances are slim and none, and slim is gone."

ship on this course back in 1951. That goes back a little while, far enough so that the PGA still was being con-

NHL starts meeting

WHA 'hot' subject

MONTREAL (UPI) — The National Hockey League board of governors meets behind closed doors today and officials said the World Hockey Association tops the list of priority issues to be discussed.

In the past month, the WHA has signed a number of NHL veterans; come to contract terms with two of the nation's top amateurs, Mark and Marty Howe in addition to nearing an agreement with their father Gordie; and driven upwards the salaries demanded by several NHL players by offering alternative contracts.

The NHL has so far remained silent on the WHA's moves into its rosters and officials said the league is not expected to make any statement today after the board of governors meeting.

The NHL intra-league draft was also on the agenda for today, but it was not expected to produce any surprises.

The 16 NHL clubs are permitted to protect 18 players this year. Goaltenders, recently-drafted amateurs and first year professionals are exempt from the draft and no team can lose more than one player.

All clubs filed their protected list Monday night and the New York Islanders will have first choice of the unprotected players.

The order of pick is based on the reverse order of finish in the 1972-73 season with the Islanders picking first and Montreal having last crack in the first round.

When a club loses a player in the draft, it may take one of their unprotected players and put him on the protected list. The team will then become exempt from the remainder of the proceedings.

The team's protected list must not exceed 18 men, however, so if one of the unprotected players is added to the protected roster then one of the protected players is dropped from the list.

In Monday's inter league draft between the NHL and the American and Western Hockey League, only one player was chosen.

Forward Hartland Monahan of the WHL Salt Lake City was swapped up by the California Golden Seals for $30,000. It was not a major deal, however since California already had a working agreement with Salt Lake City.

In other business at the opening of the three-day NHL annual meeting Monday, league officials announced five minor rule changes and announced clubs will have a 20 minute warm-up next season instead of the 15 minute pre-game skate in past years.

The rule changes included shortening to six feet the distance between opposing centers in the face-off circle; penalties for players who do not surrender their equipment to officials for measurement when asked to do so and awarding a penalty shot to a player if he is tripped or grabbed by an opponent while on a breakaway across the center ice red line.

It was announced also the meeting between the players' association and the club owners, usually held during the annual NHL meeting, has been put off until a special meeting at the end of the month.

Pam Greene places second in state meet

SAN DIEGO — The Southern California Cheetahs grabbed a second, third, three fifth and three sixth places in the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) State Championships here.

Dolla Fleetwood placed sixth in the 100 yard dash in 11.4 seconds, and Kelly Robertson finished sixth in the javelin with a 115'7" mark.

Denise Garcia had a lifetime best in the javelin of 109'6", but failed to qualify.

The Cheetahs will compete in the AAU National Championship at UC Irvine June 17-24.

Chino enjoys easy 15-3 win

CHINO — Chino's semipro baseball team will take a perfect 3-0 record in the Tri-Star League against the Hawaiian Gardens Aztecs, 15-3, last Sunday as winning pitcher Johnny Hernandez struck out 12 batters. He also helped his own cause with four hits and three RBIs.

Dan Carmean contributed four hits and drove in three runs while Phil Carlo had three hits.

Howe nearly sure to sign

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (UPI) — Gordie Howe hasn't officially signed with the World Hockey Association yet but he's severed his 27-year tie with the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League.

And the 45-year-old NHL Hall of Famer said Monday night he's "90 per cent" sure of signing with the WHA team, fulfilling a dream of laying on the same pro club with his two sons.

Marty Howe, 19, and Mark Howe, 18, were both recently signed by the Houston Aeros of the WHA.

"I definitely think we'll sign him," said Jim Smith, president of the Houston franchise.

Howe resigned his vice presidency with the Red Wings, telling the audience at dinner following the fifth annual Gordie Howe Golf Tournament that Detroit gave him the "mushroom treatment."

"They'd keep me in the dark," Howe said. "And every once in a while come in and throw garbage on me."

Officials of the Red Wings, in Montreal for the NHL's board of governors meeting, denied Howe's charges he didn't have anything to do in the running of the hockey club and stated they wished he continue with them.

"Charges of unfair treatment, real or imagined, come as a blow to Mr. (Bruce A.)

Norris and all members of the Red Wings inasmuch as Gordie's brilliant 25-year playing career earned for him and his family special status.

"Gordie did not at any time exercise his prerogative to devote more time to hockey club management," a statement by the Red Wings said.

"It's a four-year contract. But how long he plays is strictly up to him."

"Are you doubting he could play?" scoffed Al Karlander, a Red Wing who decided during the weekend to jump to the New England Whalers of the WHA.

The opportunity to play with his talented sons plus the lavish treatment accorded the all-time NHL scoring great were what apparently made up his mind — plus his feeling of being ineffectual in Detroit.

"What kindles the whole thing is that I could play with the boys," he said. "I've gotten a few letters ... and I'm a bit selfish in that I want to get the hell out of the building."
